Replacement Windows are Clearly the Best Investment

A national research study examined the cost of replacement windows in an average-sized home. They looked at how much the windows would add to a house's value if sold a year later. In 15 major markets, the average rate of the window replacement cost recouped was 91.6%. This 2002 research study, conducted by Remodeling magazine (a Hanley-Wood, LLC trade publication) utilized professional opinions of over 200 real estate agents and appraisers in the top remodel markets.

Replacement Windows Add Value From Every Perspective

If you're thinking about replacement windows or patio doors, there's no reason to wait. The benefits start immediately. From enhancing your home's interior to adding to its curb appeal, new windows and doors transform a home from ordinary to outstanding. What's more, they provide one of the best returns on investment of any home improvement project. Windows, such as those produced by Milgard are backed by a full lifetime guarantee.

No rusting, no rotting, no repainting!

Clean, contemporary designs modernize and upgrade older properties. Whether you're building to sell, a property manager or just renovating, Vista's aluminum railing systems will add a touch of class that will increase the value of your property while reducing maintenance costs.
